

Abstract of the Disclosure

The invention relates to a method for analysing the interference and supply situation in universal mobile telecommunication system (UMTS) sub-networks. Said method enables supply assertions for each service in the considered sub-network to be determined using measured data that is recorded either during or without the traffic load of the network.